President commented Guild happy with new spot

The Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts president, Barbara Peel, is delighted with the decision of Dysart et al township council to turn the old Canadian National Railway station into a new headquarters for the organization.

"We are very pleased and very excited about it," she said in an interview. "It will give us greater access to the general public and we will be able to do more for the public."

The Guild expects to be able to move into its new home next spring. It is now located with the School of Fine Arts in the Haliburton campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College.

A feasibility study was conducted to determine the possible use of the station as a year-round arts and crafts facility.

"It was the quickest study ever done," explained the Guild president. "It was completed in a month." The study cost between $5,000 and $6,000.

The Guild has planned a fund-raising weekend for November 23, 24 and 25 and has set $12,000 as its goal. November 23 is the 100th anniversary of the arrival of the first train in Haliburton village.

Mrs. Peel said the station, which has floor space of 2,112 square feet, will be restored to its original state. It will contain a visual arts display area, meeting room, office space and storage area.

The structure has been completely dormant since 1977 when the CNR discontinued its freight trains. Passenger service to the village ceased in the early 1960s.

No inquest in drowning mishap

An inquest will not be conducted into the drowning of a Toronto resident, whose body was recovered from Haliburton Lake last week, according to provincial police at the Minden detachment.

The body of Bruce Paul Kimber, 23, was located in about 40 feet of water and 300 feet off shore. Police said that Kimber had gone to a friend's cottage across the bay on the lake on October 8. The provincial police marine patrol located on October 9, a flashlight, a lifejacket and a submerged canoe on the lake. Kimber's body was recovered by OPP divers on the following day.

Investigating officer Legge said that possibly the weight of the jacket Kimber was wearing could have dragged him underwater. Kimber had been wearing a bomber jacket, which is highly absorbent. Kimber had apparently made the trip at night in poor weather.

Former Lutterworth Reeve seeks old job

Former Lutterworth reeve Pat Conaghan will be seeking his old job back again.

He plans to run for the reeveship of the township in the November 13 municipal elections.

Conaghan resigned as reeve and warden of Haliburton County last January following allegations of credit card abuses against himself and deputy-reeve A.O. Shingler, who also resigned his position.

Haliburton-Victoria crown attorney C. J. Meinhardt dropped the charges last September against the two township officials after months of investigation.

Conaghan promises, if elected, to stabilize the mill rate in the township "providing this stabilization does not curtail essential services."

He advocates the establishment of a volunteer fire department "instead of paying out thousands of dollars to other municipalities for fire protection."

Conaghan wants the provincial government to subsidize senior citizens transportation and stimulate the tourist industry by reducing the tax on gasoline.

The county road system, he advocates, should be taken over by the provincial Ministry of Transportation and Communications.

"My experience has been that during the three years I was a member of county council that there were more chiefs than Indians and I include the road committee," he said in a prepared statement.

The old express station in Haliburton is being turned into a new headquarters for the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts. Guild president, Barbara Peel, is pleased with Dysart et al council's decision to convert the station. "It will give us greater access to the general public..." she said.

AHM okays strategy

Anson, Hindon and Minden council approved the recommendations and proposals made in the Haliburton County planning document last Wednesday at their regular council meeting.

The strategy has been termed "of extreme importance" by township reeve Reg Booth "and something that should be given a great deal of thought."

The document must first pass through each council in the county for approval before it can meet final approval by county council. The municipalities will also have the opportunity to add or delete any element of the proposal they feel is not adequate and present these recommendations to the county planning committee.

Members of council expressed complete agreement with the document the way it was presented and had no recommendations to make to the committee.

Public input into the document, the councillors agreed, had been good.

"Any points that were not understood, were cleared up at last week's public meeting," said councillor Len Lonsberry.

"We stress that people should have the right of choice," said reeve Booth. "This planning will keep people from building in bad or undesirable places - nobody can wait five years to determine that. It'll be too late."

Public meetings were held last week throughout the county for residents of each municipality. Four out of the nine meetings were conducted in the daytime, though Booth said "ours were held at 7:30, and we had a pretty good turnout."

The main objectives of the planning strategy are threefold. The first aim is the development of policies for the conservation and management of natural resources in the county. The second objective is to shift the emphasis away from the traditional consent granting approach to lot creation toward lots in registered plans of subdivision. The third aim is the development of policies and guidelines for new residential, recreational, commercial and industrial land uses.

The municipalities must have a statement on the document returned by October 28. The county will be calling a meeting next month to endorse the proposal, said reeve Booth.

Lone township replies to a request for funds from AHM

Only one township has responded to Anson, Hindon and Minden township council's request to contribute funds toward minor hockey and figure skating.

Council's request for the funds was decided upon four weeks ago when they agreed that outside counties, namely Peterborough and Victoria, had people using the Minden arena, and therefore, should be charged additional revenue for the use.

Since then, council sent letters to Somerville township in Victoria County, Galway township in Peterborough county, and Snowdon township in Haliburton county, requesting additional funds. The present system of charging everyone the same rates was unfair to the ratepayers of Anson, Hindon and Minden, council agreed.

But during that time, Somerville has been the only township which has responded to the request. "I doubt if we'll get any other response," said reeve Reg Booth.

Somerville has requested that a representative of council meet with their recreation committee October 25 to discuss the request. The Victoria township stated in the letter that it wanted to know how many Somerville residents use the facilities, how much money the council is requesting, how the money will be utilized, if any other township is being asked for contributions and a copy of the finished proposal.

"We should find how many of their kids use the arena," said Booth. "If there's only a few of them, then the township shouldn't have to pay the extra money. It should be up to the users to make up the extra."

Since costs to all hockey and figure-skating users are the same, the arena board awards deductions on township ratepayer's taxes. The move is not an effective method, since there are many cottagers who use the arena far less than average residents of the township, council noted in September.

Because of this, council felt the contributions would be a better method of deferring arena costs.

A letter will be sent to Somerville council advising them that another date would be more suitable for the meeting, and that council will supply the requested additional information.

Brampton resident suffers major injury in three-car accident at Dorset Saturday

A 20-year-old Brampton resident, Andrew Inglis, suffered major injury last Saturday at 9:45 a.m. following a three-car crash on Lower Fletcher Lake road near Dorset.

Inglis was the driver of a westbound car which collided with an eastbound vehicle, driven by Erhard Scheeler, 50, of Scarborough, at the crest of a hill.

Following the accident, a third vehicle, driven by John Durack, 20, of Toronto, collided with the Inglis car which was broadside across the road.

Damage to the Inglis vehicle was estimated at $3,000 while the Scheeler car received $1,500. The Durack car received $800 damage.

A 22-year-old Kitchener resident, Gary J. Selman, suffered minimal injury in a single-car mishap last Sunday at 10:30 a.m. on County Road 3.

Selman was driving south when a tire blew and the vehicle struck a rock-cut.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to his 1971 model car. Selman was charged by provincial police at the Minden detachment with operating an unsafe vehicle.

Damage was estimated at $1,400 in a two-vehicle crash October 9 at 5:20 p.m. on Highway 35 north of Butter-milk Falls.

A 1968 van, driven by Douglas Gayton, 27, of Scarborough, was southbound when Gayton collided with another southbound vehicle, driven by Anthony Choi, 38, of Mississauga. The Choi car was about to make a left turn when Gayton began to pass and the collision occurred.

Manager told annual meeting

Chamber has a frustrating year

The past year has been a "frustrating" experience for the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, manager Bob Stinson told members at the annual meeting last Wednesday.

"The amount of valuable time that has been spent fighting for a cause and defending our actions has been lost to promoting the economy of our county," he said. "We failed to get some of the programs we had planned underway and others were not done as well as we had desired because time simply ran out."

"Let us hope that the day of using your chamber as a political football is over and that we can get on with the job," he added.

The chamber, he said, has attempted to call "a spade, a spade" sometimes at the risk of jeopardizing its source of funding.

Members have asked the chamber to support them in their cause with local government, he explained. "However just the cause," he added, "remember that county council contributes as much as our operating budget as does the membership."

The only way the chamber can reach the point of being able to stand up and be counted on any issue on behalf of its membership is to become truly independent, he said, supported solely by its membership for the membership.

"It is not likely to happen," commented Stinson. "We are not in a financial position, nor can we expect to be, to turn down the assistance we now received in order to be independent."

The province contributes 75 per cent of the funds required to operate the Central Ontario Travel Association, of which the chamber is a member.

Because the chamber is beholden to the various levels of government for funding, the organization is "not in a position to criticize them" when the need arises.

"More and more our daily lives are being controlled by various levels of government," he stated. "In some cases it is necessary," he added, "but in many cases we have simply given up our rights because we continually run to government to solve our problems."

He told members of the chamber they should not forget that a government that is strong enough to give them everything they want is powerful enough to take away all their freedoms.

"And let us not also get carried away with criticism of government because if it has become a monster," he explained, "it is a monster we created."

"It is not an easy task for the chamber to serve so many masters and only through understanding and co-operation of the many masters involved can we achieve worthwhile goals," he said.

Stinson informed the membership that indications are, the coming winter will be an excellent tourist season. "There is more interest than ever before in winter activities and providing we offer the type of accommodation and hospitality our visitors are looking for we shall reap the benefits."

Woodland Ranch, he revealed, will turn its 6,000 acres into providing over 50 miles of groomed cross country ski trails.

Chamber elects new directors

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce elected a new 13-member board of directors at its annual meeting last Wednesday at Wig-A-Mog Inn.

Elected to the board were Barbara Bolin, Tim Casey, Ed Elias, Rhonda Elstone, Bruce Henry, John Hogg, Ann Lee, Marshall Leighton, Jim McLen, Don Nye, Bob Patton and Bill Smith.

Due to the resignation of chamber president Dennis Casey, past president Dennis Waymouth will remain for another year in that position and will continue to serve on the board.

The new board of directors will hold its first meeting tonight (Wednesday) to select a new president.

Vice-president John Hogg is expected to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Casey, who is moving to Elliot Lake.

Kinmount group to preserve station

The Kinmount Historic Society is exploring the possibility of preserving the old Canadian National Railway station in the village for use by the community.

Society president David Longford presented a petition from his membership to Somerville township council earlier this month asking for time to investigate the possible uses of the building.

Council granted the historical group the opportunity and delayed giving its permission to the CNR to dispose of the structure.

The railway received permission from the federal government to abandon the old station.

"The petition expressed the concern of numerous citizens from the community with regards to the future of this historic building," said Mr. Longford in a press release. "The main reason for petitioning the council at this time was to make certain that disposal of the building does not take place until all

Outgoing Warden of Haliburton County, Keith Tallman, would like to see county re-designated as an area eligible for Department of Regional Economic Expansion (DREE) funding. "If we are going to bring industry into the county," he says, "we need the DREE funding."

Warden Keith Tallman stated

Past year 'fairly productive'

Haliburton County warden Keith Tallman, deputy-reeve of Monmouth township, thinks his year as warden has been a "fairly productive" period.

He cited the planning strategy as the most important accomplishment of his wardenship.

The strategy is nearly completed and will go before county council in November.

"It was essential to get it (the strategy) off the ground," he told The Echo in a telephone interview. The second phase of the planning in Haliburton County will be to commission a study of its lakes, said deputy-reeve Tallman.

A final step, he added, would be to have Dysart et al official plan incorporated with the county planning document.

He termed his year as warden "short, but busy". The position, he said, was a very time consuming thing.

He said he would like to see

Haliburton Redmen coach Gary Brohman helps Ed Roberts, one of the key players for Haliburton this year, off the field after a minor injury.

Club established last Saturday

The Kinetite Club of Haliburton was established last Saturday and an executive elected.

The new executive are president, Sandra Curry, vice-president, Carol Debenham, secretary, Sally Biagi, treasurer, Karen Berkhof, registrar, Wilma Powers and directors, Sylvia Smith, Sandra Roberts and Isobel Keefe, and bulletin editor, Evelyn Brooks.

It is the first Kinetite Club to be established in Haliburton.

Owl collides with police officer

Provincial constable Solway of the Minden detachment was on patrol last Friday at 7:40 p.m. just east of Minden when a barn owl flew through the open window of the police cruiser, struck the constable and retreated to the rear seat.

The owl was turned over to conservation officer Smith of the Ministry of Natural Resources. He checked over the owl and found it to be in good health, but slightly dazed from its experience.

Productive year

Haliburton County re-designated as an area eligible for Department of Regional Economic Expansion (DREE) funding.

"If we are going to bring industry into the county," he explained, "we need the DREE funding."

The county, he revealed, was removed from eligibility for DREE funding several years ago.

"It would give us an opportunity to attract new industry and retain present industry," he commented. "We are going to do everything we can."

Saturday highlighted his year in office, he said. A banquet was held in his honour at Wilberforce.

"I am quite happy with what happened this year," he commented. "We are functioning fairly well in Haliburton County."

An electrical contractor, he plans to oppose Monmouth reeve Gary Agnew in the November 13 municipal elections.

Station preserved

possibilities for future use of the building within the community have been considered.

"The council gave their assurance that no permission would be given to Canadian National to dispose of the building until all feasible community projects have been presented to them," he added.

Resident injury

last Sunday at 2:45 p.m. on Long Lake road in Dudley township.

A car driven by Deborah Robb, 17, of RR 1, Waubesa, was northbound when the driver lost control going down a hill, entered the west ditch and rolled over.

An estimated 75 persons attended the formation ceremony for the new club at the Royal Canadian Legion. Included in the chartering were Kinsmen governor Bruce Glass, deputy governor George Lawrence, Kinetite zone chairperson Barbara Merritt and district representative Pat Clark.

Inquest may be held into mishap

An inquest may be held in connection with the death of a 13-year-old Brighton boy who died of gunshot wounds after he and a 12-year-old companion were hunting in Cardiff township last September.

Provincial police at the Apsley detachment report that no charges are being laid by the crown attorney in Lindsay against the boy. However, the crown is recommending to the coroner that an inquest be held.

The incident, which occurred in September, happened after Brian Ronald Currie of R.R. 3, Brighton, and a companion were hunting for birds in Cardiff township. The two boys were both carrying guns when Currie was accidentally shot in the head.

Len Salvatori and Ron Curry look over their plaques they received at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner held at the Wig-A-Mog Inn last Wednesday. Salvatori received the Highlander of the Year award and Curry was presented with an Honourary Lifetime Membership.

Haliburton resident charged

A 27-year-old Haliburton man, Richard Wayne Shaw, has been charged by provincial police at the Minden detachment with assault on police officers, escaping lawful custody and having liquor available in an automobile.

Shaw was arrested, but fled in his automobile to his residence. At his residence, a scuffle broke out between a Shaw and provincial constables Solway and Telford. Shaw was arrested again by the officers and placed in jail at Lindsay.

Minden merchant to seek office

A 29-year-old Minden businessman, Stuart Brandon, will seek a seat on township council in Anson, Hindon and Minden.

If elected, he says, he would hold the line of taxes and urge for more adequate representation by the township at the county level.

He would urge council to take more advantage of the federal and provincial funds available to the township.

A vice-president in both the Minden Rotary Club and Minden Businessmen's Association, Brandon is concerned with the past record of the present council.

A partner in a dry goods business, it is his first venture into municipal politics.

Haliburton woman facing two ### charges of theft November 14

A 32-year-old Haliburton woman, Ann Hopkins, will appear in court November 14 on two charges of theft.

Hopkins, a former employee of the Haliburton branch of the Bank of Montreal, was charged as the result of inquiries by bank personnel and an investigation by provincial constable Bibby with theft over $200 and theft under $200.

The thefts occurred between June and December, 1977, while Hopkins was a bank employee.

The thefts are alleged to involve the misappropriation of funds, said police.

Evangelist to speak at Wilberforce Sunday

One of Canada's foremost evangelists, Rev. Meryle Dolan, will be speaking at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre in Wilberforce, Sunday, October 22, at 7:30 p.m.

After 12 years of pastoral experience in two churches, Rev. Dolan is now in his 14th year of evangelistic work. He has conducted crusades in many parts of Canada and the United States.

Born in Peterborough, he trained for the ministry at McMaster University and McMaster Divinity School. He is an accredited Baptist minister in the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. Several businessmen make up a board of directors of the Meryle Dolan Evangelistic Association of which Rev. Dolan is president.

This telephone system could save your life

by Joe Banks

Picture this scene. A cigarette falls undetected behind a couch at a crowded party somewhere in Haliburton county. It lies there and smolders for several hours unnoticed by those at the party. Soon, the guests have all gone, the party is over, but the burning continues.

Flames start shooting out from behind the couch, but it is late at night. The family at the house is asleep in bed.

Across the road, a neighbour spots some flickering light in the living room. He sees smoke starting to rise out of the window openings.

have been in existence at fire departments for nearly 10 years. It is perhaps, an old system, but one which has met the department's every need since the beginning of the unit's history.

"It's been functioning exceptionally well," said Wayne Wood, a volunteer ambulance attendant and township clerk. "It's one of the few things everybody in the county cooperates on. If it's an emergency situation, there is no hesitation on anybody's part in helping."

The system itself operates on a series of telephones. Three sets of phones comprise the unit, as well as a its ability to override any telephone conversation. If a firefighter is on the phone speaking with someone, the dispatch phone, that is 'the out phone' will cut in on the conversation.

In the firehall itself, the unit also consists of a radio which has a double frequency: one reaching the fire marshal's office and the other is a county-wide band which is used most frequently.

"The trucks themselves can be reached through Minden or Stanhope department's," said Haliburton fire chief, Howard Roberts, "so there's always the possibility of us making a run up

Destruction or death could hinge on a simple call

The ambulance phone system which is set up at the Dysart et al municipal office. The recorder automatically tapes all incoming phone calls from the 'in' phone, located in the centre of the shelf. The other phones include a public phone and an alerting phone, which is tied into the central dispatch station.

there if they need us."

The system has worked out well for the department, says Roberts, and adds that "you'd pretty well have to have this system to function. There's not really much else you could do, except have an answering service like they have in Bancroft."

Sound complicated? Well, the men of the department are modest about the equipment and the ambulance attendants are no exception.

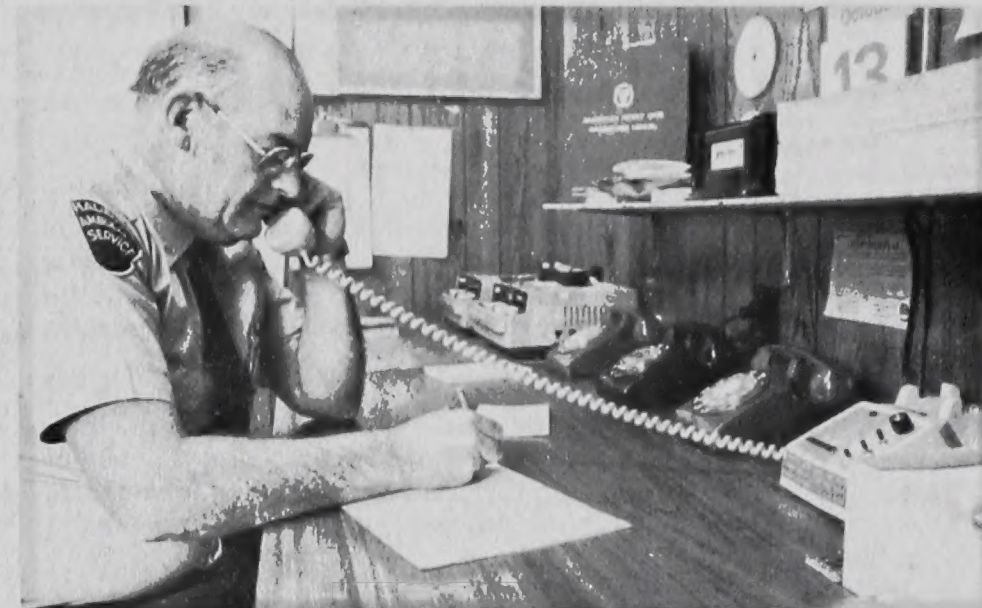

Utilizing essentially the same system, all incoming ambulance calls are recorded on a telephone recorder and played back for directions or additional details about the scene.

The two-channel system, a provincial channel and an intercom system to the garage, is a standard set-up for most ambulance stations, says Gerry Wood, full-time ambulance attendant for the Haliburton area ambulance service. Standard procedure means that all calls must be recorded, the time of departure, the time of arrival at the scene, the time of departure at the scene, in fact, even the position of the patient when found must be recorded.

Each recorder tied into the ambulance system is worth about $800, but "is constantly being sent down to Peterborough for repairs," says Wayne Wood.

Two recorders are maintained at central dispatch, as the Haliburton base is called,

Gerry Wood, ambulance attendant for the Haliburton Ambulance Service, takes a call on the emergency line.

...to have no lives to save would be pure heaven...

Howard Roberts answers the incoming calls phone at the Haliburton Firehall. At this stage, in the event of a fire, Roberts would pick up the phone on the right, which will alert all members of the department. The phone will override any other communications being held between one of the firefighters and anyone else on the line.

There's no response on the phone as the neighbour tries to awaken the family, so he dials the Haliburton Fire Department.

This is where the department's extensive telephone warning system comes into play.

The man on duty answers the phone and within a matter of minutes, every volunteer firefighter is aware of the emergency. At the same time, the ambulance garage receives a call on their 'in' line. In five minutes, the entire emergency team, fire department and ambulance service, is at the scene of the fire.

It's a frightening scenario, but one that happens frequently in the county. What is the system whereby the fire department and ambulance service is alerted? And how fast can they respond? Is the answering system in the county slower since both departments have the bulk of their staff volunteers?

The method of alerting these departments is not a simple one. Though not many people may know how the system works, their lives depend on the system daily. It is as important to the county as are the people.

The Dysart et al township alert telephone system is similar to many others that radio, which contacts the fire department's vehicles.

Four homes, the municipal office, the fire department's garage and the municipal garage each have a unit hooked up. The incoming phone, or 'in' phone, is the device the fire call is received on. When a call is placed to the fire department, the 'in' phone at one of the stations rings. It is answered by the volunteer on duty and he records the address where the fire is occurring.

In turn, this person picks up another phone marked 'out' which is in direct line with the 24 members of the Dysart fire department. Every phone in every home will ring at once at exactly the same time. The firefighter will answer and immediately head down to the firehall, where they will find out where the fire is occurring.

From the firehall, it's to the scene.

It's a far cry from the old days when Dysart had its own phone system, said Wood.

"Some years ago, when Dysart had that system before they were hooked up to the Bell, the person called the operator, and in turn, the operator went down the list and called each member of the fire department."

The most interesting feature perhaps of the system is

New Canada Savings Bonds

Safety, instant cash and a good return

For over 32 years, Canada Savings Bonds have been a great Canadian tradition.

With Canada Savings Bonds, you get a safe, secure investment which earns good interest year after year. And they're instant cash anytime. No wonder millions of Canadians invest in Canada Savings Bonds every year.

New Canada Savings Bonds are dated November 1, 1978 and yield an average annual interest of 8.90% when held to maturity in 1985. Each new bond earns interest of 8.50% the first year and 9% for each of the remaining 6 years.

The choice is yours

Canada Savings Bonds also offer you a great choice. There's a Regular Interest Bond that pays interest each year. And a Compound Interest Bond that reinvests your interest automatically. Choose the bond that's right for you.

The Regular Interest Bond

If you want a regular annual income from your investment, you'll like the Regular Interest Bond which pays interest automatically each November 1.

If you're like many bondholders, you'll appreciate the direct deposit feature. With this convenient option, your interest is deposited directly into your chequing or savings account.

Simply ask for it when you buy your new bonds. Or, you can receive your interest by cheque through the mail.

You can buy the Regular Interest Bond for cash wherever you bank or invest in denominations of $300, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

The Compound Interest Bond

If you seek savings growth, or an investment for the future, or a retirement fund, you'll choose the Compound Interest Bond which earns interest on your interest, after the first year, at the guaranteed annual rate of 8.90%.

Here's how the value of a $100 bond grows:

|      | Nov. 1 | Value    | Nov. 1 | Value    |
|------|--------|----------|--------|----------|
| 1979 |        | $108.50 | 1983   | $153.06 |
| 1980 |        | $118.26 | 1984   | $166.79 |
| 1981 |        | $128.88 | 1985   | $181.74 |
| 1982 |        | $140.46 |        |          |

The Compound Interest Bond may be purchased for cash or on the convenient Monthly Savings Plan wherever you bank or invest. It is available in denominations of $100, $300, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

A dual purchase limit

You may buy new Canada Savings Bonds in various amounts up to a limit of $30,000.

In addition, holders of "S24" and "SR" bonds may reinvest all proceeds from their maturing bonds in the new Series.

Buy yours now

Millions of Canadians will be buying Canada Savings Bonds again this year. So visit your bank, investment dealer, trust company or credit union as soon as possible and choose the bond that's right for you. Do it now and avoid the rush!

Nominations

With the opening of nominations this week in the various municipalities in Haliburton County, civic-minded individuals should be offering themselves as candidates. And voters must be prepared to carefully examine the candidates they have running in their particular area.

Taxpayers complain too often about the running of governments, whether they be federal, provincial or municipal, yet, rarely realize the importance of the grass roots level of government. An opportunity awaits residents in November to participate in the governing process by either running as a candidate or voting for a candidate.

Municipal office affords an individual the opportunity to serve his fellow resident and participate in the decision making process at the grass roots level. The real decision making is too often associated with federal or provincial governments, but decisions at the municipal level can be the most effective.

Yet, the participation by civic-minded individuals and voters alike in municipal elections in the past has left a lot to be desired.

Voter turnout for federal, provincial and municipal elections has operated on a sliding scale. Federal elections attract the most voters, provincial are second and trailing in third is municipal.

Yet, the most important, in terms of participation, are the municipal elections. Decision at the municipal level directly effect the lives of individuals in the community. Residents have the closest contact with municipal politicians because they are the most accessible.

Voters should be examining the past record of candidates offering themselves for re-election and should be carefully watching the promises and statements of new candidates.

Candidates must be making realistic promises which can be fulfilled if they are voted into office.

The direction and progress of a municipality greatly depends on the type of municipal politicians running the operation.

Voters have an obligation to pick candidates they believe are best suited to do the job and serve the taxpayers for the betterment of the community.

With the municipal elections less than a month away, candidates and voters alike should be concentrating more on the importance of the electoral process in Haliburton County.

Participation at the grass roots level is the key to producing a municipal council which will do the job it was elected to carry out.

History

Preservation of a community's history provides an important link between past, present and future generations.

Quick decisions are made too often in communities to tear down the old to make way for the new when restoration of an old structure would better serve the community.

The decision by Dysart et al township council to the 100-year-old Canadian National Railway station into a new headquarters, not only provides a new home for the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts, but preserves a part of the history of Haliburton County.

Although the station in Haliburton village sits in a state of neglect, it will soon stand as a reminder to present and future generations of a past generation, whose only means of travel was the railway.

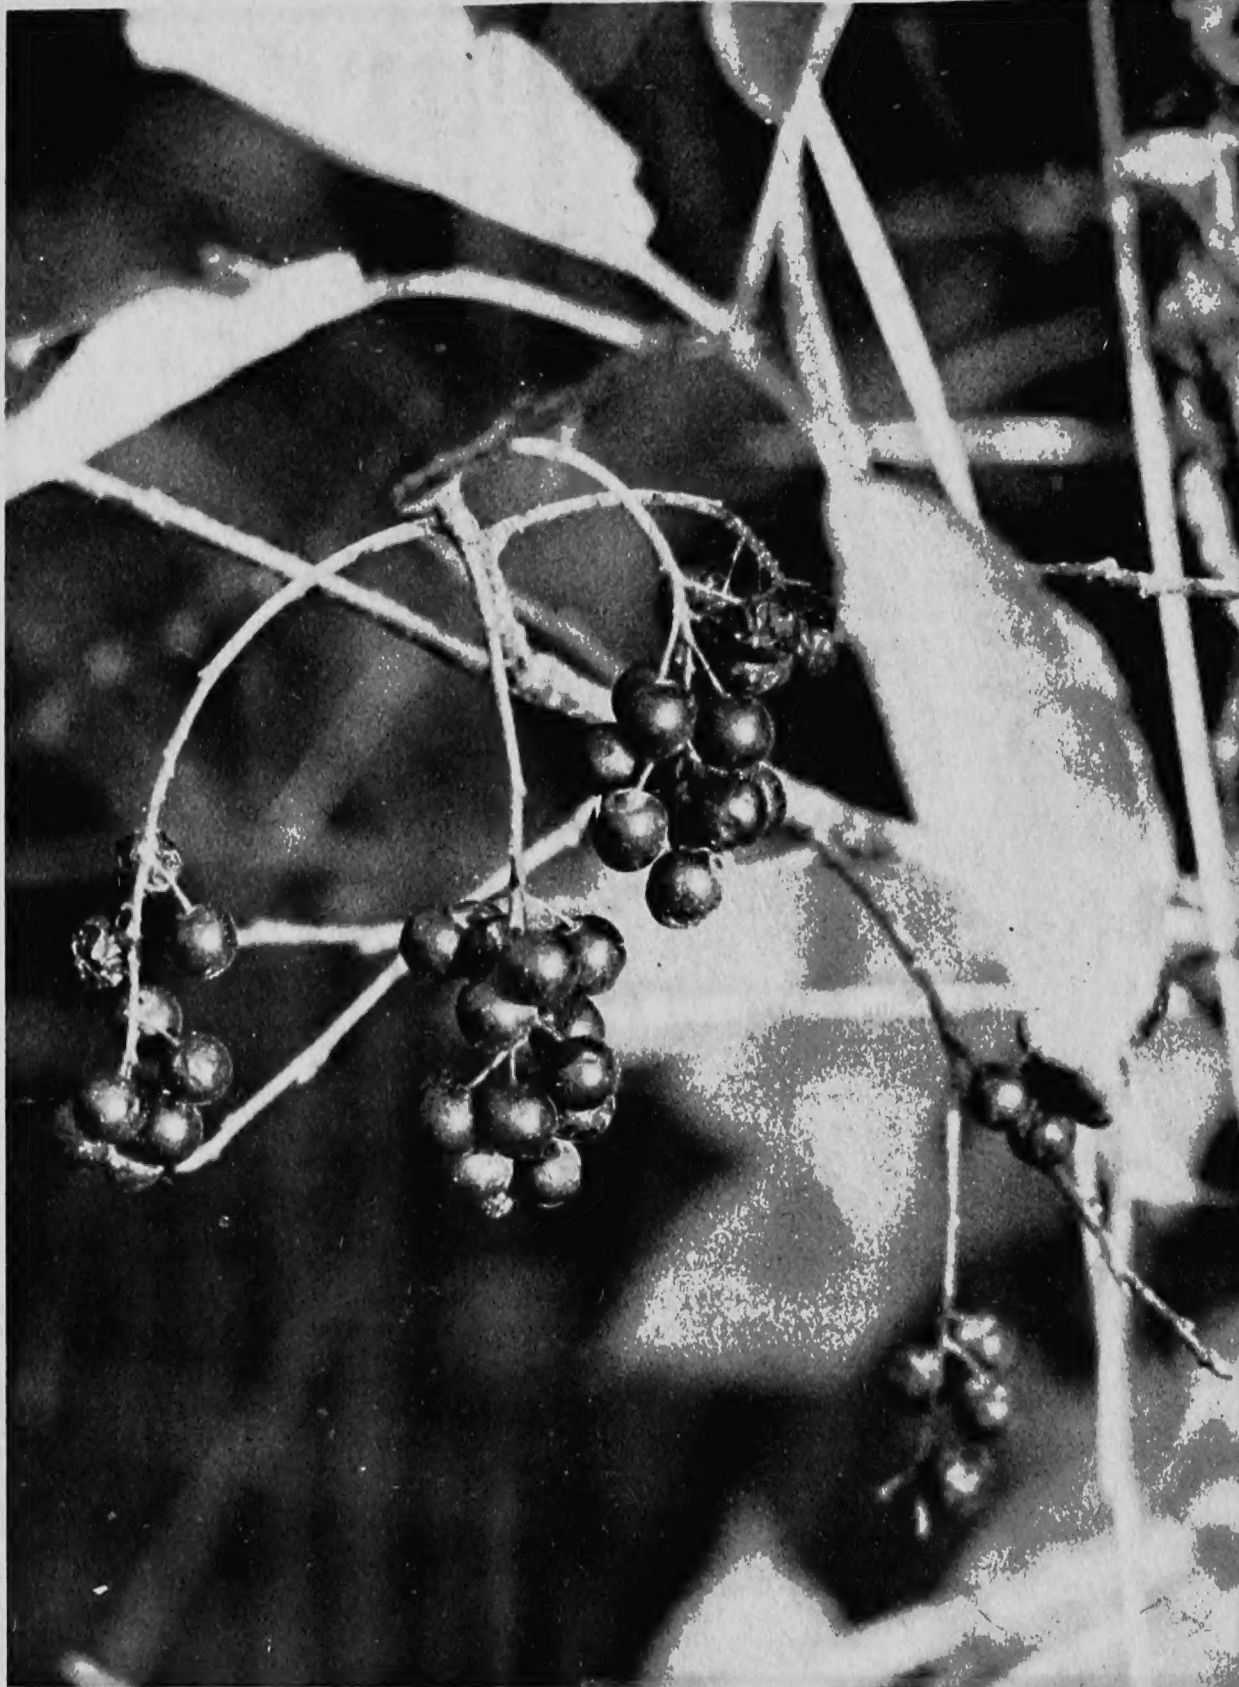

Other areas are beginning to realize the value, not in terms of dollars and cents, but in a historical sense, of the history of a community.

A group of concerned citizens at Kinmount have started a campaign to preserve the old CNR railway station in their village for use by the community.

Somerville township council granted members of the Kinmount Historical Society an opportunity to investigate the possible uses of the building.

Old buildings are not necessarily eyesores if interested groups and municipal leaders realize the importance of the structures in linking the past with present and future.

Preservation and restoration can greatly serve present and future generations by giving them an opportunity to understand and appreciate the past through an important historical link.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

As a former reeve of Lutterworth Township and a member of the committee of reeves on the Rural Development Planning Study for the County of Haliburton, I believe I am justified in saying that there has been a shotgun wedding between the members of the committee of county council, namely the reeves and the consulting firms involved.

This wedding must be brought to the attention of the Ministry of Housing, owing to the fact that the local residents have not had ample opportunity to discuss the pros and cons of the proposed plan being that the ministry saw fit to assure us that they would pay 75 per cent of the total cost.

As a taxpayer who will be assessed for a portion of the cost of this plan, I believe it would be in the best interest of all taxpayers in Lutterworth Township for our incoming council to go on record and inform the county council that they are not prepared to endorse this plan until such time as the permanent residents, non-residents and public press have had an opportunity to see a copy of what the committee and the consultants have concurred in. After all, the public of this province as whole are paying 75 per cent of the total cost of the plan.

Our non-residents, who are taxpayers in this municipality, and pay over 90 per cent of the taxes, should have an opportunity to see what this Rural Development Planning Study Committee of county council and consultants are recommending for our concurrence. As a former reeve who attended one of the meetings I understood from the members of the ministry who attended the meeting that the permanent residents, the non-residents, and the public press would be given every opportunity as to what the rural plan study committee of county council and consulting firms had concurred in.

Surely the committee and the consultants would not expect the taxpayers of this municipality to endorse this plan when they have no knowledge as to what the content of the plan is.

I respectfully suggest that the county council instruct the clerk-treasurer of the county to forward a true copy of the plan of the real guardians of the people, the public press.

Yours truly,
Pat Conaghan

GIFT HELPED HIM

Sales executive Jim Wexler dates everything from January 21, 1969 - the date of his open heart surgery operation.

He was 48 years old then, a man with 80 per cent of his main arteries blocked. Nine months before he had buried his older brother who died of the same condition. Some years before that his father had died at age 57, also a victim of blocked arteries.

Yet Wexler wasn't afraid for his own life. A businessman who "thinks positive" like a businessman, he was confident the operation would be a success.

Not everyone shared his calm. The night before his operation, some friends from his local B'nai Brith chapter donated blood at a Red Cross blood donor clinic to ensure there was an adequate supply for Wexler's open heart surgery.

"But I never worried. I knew the blood would be there for the operation," Wexler said. "Hospitals know the tools they need. Blood is one of the tools. I didn't even question it wouldn't be there."

He's 57 now, plays a full round of golf, swims, and sculpts in his spare time. He says he feels 39 and is convinced he has another 30 years to live.

"I've been closer to dangerous ground than most people," Wexler said. "And I know that while I was in the hospital I never worried. The blood was always there. But it's not always going to be there unless people come through and make sure there's always enough!"

CLINTON NEWS RECORD

Editor's Notebook by Gord Lavoie

When I journeyed this past weekend back to Brockville to visit my wife and children, I suddenly realized what a peaceful and tranquil effect living in Haliburton County has on the spirit.

Brockville, mind you as cities go, is by any stretch of the imagination, not large. (Population is 20,000) But after being used to the rural living afforded me for the past month and half, it quickly hits you just how stark a difference exists between both places.

In the city, noises seem to assault you from every direction, lights appear to exist every few feet and hustle and bustle is everywhere. While Haliburton has more time for the quality of life, minus the pressures of urban living.

It was great to be able to spend some free time with my family and enjoy a weekend together. Although I miss the daily contact with my family, I really looked forward to returning to Haliburton on Sunday after only a few days away. My spirit soared as I drove back into the quiet and tranquil village last Sunday in the early evening. It is a place I am learning to appreciate more and more.

I am beginning to realize Haliburton is starting to feel like home. I still possess strong feelings about Brockville, where I have many good friends and enjoyed the years I spent in that community. But the feelings are beginning to diminish and are being replaced with feelings about Haliburton.

I am adjusting to the way of life in Haliburton and am enjoying my new surroundings more every day. The residents are genuine people who appreciate the quality of life and are doing something they enjoy.

The transition will be final once my family and I are back together again. I will be journeying to Brockville less and less once my family joins me. I will always retain fond memories of eastern Ontario and good times I enjoyed.

The way of life in Haliburton County is something I am enjoying and I know my wife and children will learn to appreciate.

An appreciation for the quality of life is something which does not exist in great measure outside of Haliburton County.

Feir Play

by Creighton Feir

On the Thanksgiving weekend I made my annual tour to Skyline Park on top of the mountain in Haliburton. Although I have seen the view from here many times before something always seems to take me back for a view of the village and to look at the beautiful countryside in all its colour. Every time I visit Skyline Park my thoughts turn back several years and preparation the night had finally arrived when a dream had become a reality. The stage had been set and the Premier of Ontario, Leslie M. Frost had the honour of being invited to open the park. It was through his efforts along with others that Skyline Park was built and has now become a great tourist attraction. The weatherman was not with us for the official opening. It was a very cold evening and I can remember getting ready to drive up to the park on this evening to play with the Haliburton Citizens Band who were to supply the music. It rained so hard on the way up that I could hardly see the road. It was a downpour that never let up and we never did get out of the car. Instead of postponing the event it was moved to the curling rink where hundreds gathered to listen to the music and hear a splendid address delivered by the Premier.

Ice cream cones, sundaes and milk shakes are really popular with the visitors who come to the Highlands of Haliburton. When it comes to these items the visitors flock to the Kawartha Dairy Bar on the Minden by-pass. We noticed while passing on Thanksgiving Day which was on a Monday everyone heading back home seemed to be stopping for something in the ice cream line before heading back on the highway. It's really a busy spot during the summer months and especially on holiday weekends.

While travelling around the Highlands this past couple of weeks we have to agree with a great majority of the people whom we have been talking with when they tell us that the leaves had more colour this year than in the past couple of years. They were certainly beautiful and the trip around the various areas proves this point.

A local resident who is a salesman for a company in Toronto told us the other day that he sold 17,000 pens in one day to candidates in the upcoming municipal election in one of the Burroughs of Toronto.

In the Toronto Star Sunday Magazine, "The City" on the Enigma page they gave out prizes for the best limerick. The best non-Toronto entry was: Margaret McPhaden for "A town in the north once grew; To a small population of few; We all know of course; that it's call Wilberforce; But outsiders all ask Wilberwho?"

You know they say that things are never black as they are painted. I think that all of us thought that, when the end of August hit us that business would drop drastically and that employment locally would be bad. Well, we have some good news up to this point which is just over the half way mark in October. The local economy seems to be very good and let's hope that it keeps up.

The car dealers in the area did a big business selling new cars and trucks before the tax went up but they are now all loaded down with used vehicles. It could be a buyers market.

Following the Thanksgiving weekend we found it a little sad to have to say goodbye to many of our good friends who come up in early spring, stay until Thanksgiving and then head back to Toronto for the winter months. I have had the pleasure of getting to know most of them personally and am always fascinated by the interest they show in local affairs and in community involvement. They are wonderful people and I can hardly wait until they move back and become year round residents. It's the new blood in our communities with people with new, fresh ideas that is going to move this county ahead.

One day last week I had the pleasure of being invited to the home of Mr. Vinton Loucks for a short visit and a chat. I have known Vinton for a long time and got to know him better when he was a member of the Minden Rotary Club. He was showing me an album of photos about his family and as I looked through it I couldn't help but marvel at the success that each one of them has made for themselves in this life. They all have received a wonderful education that has prepared them to seek careers in the business world. Yes, Vinton you can't help but feel mighty proud of your family and their many accomplishments.

During the color bus tour in October and those who travelled by car, came back and told us that they were really amazed on the progress that has been made in the village of Wilberforce. Here is a place with a small population that have proven that if you all pull together great results will follow. One thing that really stands out in Wilberforce is the many fine buildings they have been able to build through hard work and co-operation.

At one time, the only interest I had in baseball was when the World Series was on. But since the Toronto Blue Jays entered the American League and I have had the opportunity to see a few games I have taken quite an interest in the game. Even the play-off games in both the American and National Leagues seemed to hold a great deal of interest for me. The game has speeded up and has become much more colorful and interesting.

We haven't heard any predictions as yet but from the way that October has started out we could be in for a long cold winter with plenty of snow. We will just have to wait and see.

Carroll Baker who was the headliner at the Kinmount Fair two years ago was named Canadian country entertainer of the year and top female country singer at the recent Big Country Awards ceremony here.

Bill Smiley

One of the deepest satisfactions in writing a column of this kind is the knowledge that you are getting into print the angers and frustrations of a lot of other people, who have no recourse for their resentments, and consequently take them out on the old man or the old lady.

How do you know this? Well, because people write you letters cheering you on to further attacks, and other people come up to you, perfect strangers, shake hands warmly, and say, "By the Holy Ole Jumper! Bill, you really hit the nail on the head."

This can be a little disconcerting, as you are never quite sure which nail they are referring to. If the congratulator is a woman, I smile weakly and change the subject. Because sure as guns, though she thought you were one of nature's noblemen for your assault on male chauvinism last week, she'll turn on you like a snake when she reads tomorrow's paper, with the column exposing female chauvinism.

Speaking recently to a class of potential writers in a creative writing course, I tried to pass along the personal satisfaction one gets from this type of personal journalism.

I emphasized the "personal" satisfaction, because there's a lot more of that involved than there is of the other kind, financial satisfaction. Columnists and freelance writers have no union working for them, nor any professional association, as have doctors, lawyers, teachers.

They have only their own talent and wit and perseverance with which to penetrate the thick heads and thicker skins of editors and publishers.

But it's a great feeling when you vent your wrath, say, about the rapaciousness of mechanics, and you are button-holed six times in the next three days by people with horror stories about mechanics you can scarcely believe.

Trouble is, they all want you to write another column about mechanics, and put some real meat into it. This means, in effect, that they would "happily" stand in the wings and applaud when you were sued for libel.

Some readers would like you to be constantly attacking whatever it is that they don't like. Capitalist friends are aghast when you refuse to launch an assault on capital gains taxes. Welfare friends think you are a traitor and a fink when you won't attack the government for not providing color TV for everyone on the take.

I am not by nature an attacker, and I think there is nothing more boring than a writer of any kind who tries to make a career of being a "hard-hitting" journalist.

Once in a while my gently bubbling nature boils over. Throwing caution and syntax to the winds, I let my spleen have a field day and try to throw some sand in the grease with which many aspects of society are trying to give us a snow job. And that's one of the finest paragraphs I've ever written, if mixed metaphors are your bag.

Fair game for the hard-hitter are: garage mechanics, plumbers, postal workers, supermarkets, civil servants, and politicians. Most of them can't hit back, and everybody hates them, except garage mechanics and their wives, plumbers and their wives, etc. etc.

Smaller fry are doctors, lawyers, teachers, used car salesmen. They all squeal like dying rabbits when attacked, but nobody pays much attention to them except doctors and their wives, etc. etc.

There are a few areas that even the hardest-hitters avoid. When have you, lately, read a savage attack on greedy farmers, callous nurses, or unloving mothers? And yet, there are lots of them around.

One of these days, perhaps, one of these hard-hitting writers will muster enough guts, after about five brandies, to launch an all-out attack on the audacity of women, thinking they're as good as men. Boy, that fellow will learn what real hard-hitting is all about.

Personally, I can't stay mad at anybody long enough to be a voice of the people, or a public watchdog, or any of those obnoxious creatures who try to tell other people how they should feel.

The only constant in my rage is the blatant manipulation of self-seeking politicians who will twist and warp and wriggle and squirm and bribe for self-perpetuation in office. Best example of the moment in Ontario, which has been called a totally unnecessary election in that province through sheer hunger for greater power.

Otherwise, I get a great deal more joy from touching the individual life than inflaming the masses. When I get a letter from an old lady in hospital, crippled with arthritis, who has managed to get a chuckle out of my column, it makes me feel good.

Recently I got a letter from a young Scot who has immigrated to Canada. He says: "I have learned more about Canada and Canadians through reading your column than all the accumulated wisdom from the Canadian news magazines, novels and TV programs I have absorbed."

Now there is a man with his head screwed on right. If I, as a newcomer, tried to get my impressions of this country from newsmagazines and TV programs, I'd catch the first boat or plane home.

So, I guess I'll just try to go on talking to people, getting sore, having some fun, looking for sympathy in the war between the sexes. That's what life is all about, not plumbers and politicians and other horrors of that ilk.

Township receives federal grant

Galway - Cavendish township has received a Canada Works Grant of $6,799 for renovations, repairs and landscaping to the Galway Hall, which contains a firehall and community centre.

Work on the project began October 2 and will end December 29. Three men are being employed for 13 weeks on the job.

The grant consists of $5,629 for labour and $1,170 for materials.

The work includes retiling the roof, rebuilding the brick chimney, removing the chimney in the kitchen, applying dry wall to the main room and painting, installing drop ceiling and new lighting, painting all interior walls, replacing front doors, resolving eavesdropping problem and landscaping around firehall and community centre.

Pic of the Past

Coboconk, Ont., from the Hill

This is a picture of the village of Coboconk taken in 1907. It's a far cry from the Coboconk of today with many changes having taken place since that time. For many years very little progress was made here but in the past few years, new buildings have gone up and many new businesses have been started. It's really a bustling community during the summer months and as one businessman stated just recently, he can't see too much more progress made until the village has a sanitary sewage system. Our thanks go out to Mr. A.M. Adams of St. Catharines, Ontario for submitting this most interesting photo.

Grants approved

Victoria - Haliburton MP Bill Scott announced today (Wednesday) that approval has been granted by the federal Minister of Employment and Immigration for eight projects in Haliburton County under the current Canada Works program.

Canada Works is an on-going project carried out under the Ministry of Employment and Immigration. While the final responsibility for acceptable projects rests with the minister, a ministerial advisory board made up of local business and community leaders in co-operation with departmental officials assesses each application. Due to financial restraints and in accordance with program criteria, applications are then assessed and submitted to the minister.

Kanawa Museum Improvement Program in Stanhope township, Village Improvement Project in Anson, Hindon and Minden township, Spot Improvement and Beautification Program in Haliburton County, Gooderham Enhancement in Glamorgan township, Renovation and upgrading Community Centre in Galway and Cavendish township, Lion's Club Improvement Project at Coboconk, Trailmake '78 of the Haliburton Snowmobile Club and Les Trazaus D'Automne of Wilberforce and Tory Hill will each receive a $6,799 grant.

ism to the economy of Ontario, we recommended earlier this year in the Liberal Task Force on Tourism that tourism should be a separate ministry", Dr. Smith said. "As Task Force Chairman, Mr. Eakins won the confidence of tourist operators throughout the province, and gained a clear understanding of the problems and opportunities facing Ontario's tourism industry. As Liberal Shadow Minister of Tourism, he will be preparing the groundwork for a separate tourism ministry in a Liberal government."

In a related move, Ross Hall, MLA for Lincoln is appointed Shadow Minister of Industry in the Liberal Caucus. "There is a crying need for a clear industrial strategy in order to get Ontario's economy moving again," said Dr. Smith.

"Ross Hall has a background of success in business and a clear idea of the need to make Ontario's products competitive in world markets. He will be engaging in a sector-by-sector dialogue with management and labour representatives, emphasizing the need to stimulate growth and job opportunities in Ontario's manufacturing concerns."

Housing matters, formerly dealt with by Hall, will now be added to the responsibilities of Herb Epp, MLA for Waterloo North, who is Liberal critic for Municipal Affairs. As the former Mayor of Waterloo, Epp will bring considerable knowledge and experience in both of these fields to the Liberal Shadow Cabinet.

Report from Queens Park

by MPP John Eakins

As you know, there has been considerable discussion in the last few months about grocery store discount practices. There were a number of heated debates in the House on the subject, and the Legislature's Standing Committee on Resources Development has recommended a public inquiry into rebates, discounts and allowances in the Ontario food industry. All three political parties approved the idea of an inquiry, although there was some disagreement on the scope and form which the investigation should have.

My leader, Stuart Smith, led the campaign to have a full investigation. He asked many questions about deductions which are made from payments to suppliers, as the cost of doing business with the grocery outlets. Unfortunately, this discounting is, it seems, only the tip of the iceberg, and the very fact that such discounts are requested and paid is a clear indication of the power of the retailers.

It appears that chain stores also demand from suppliers sizeable payments or discounts with respect to volume, promotion, etc., as a condition for handling products. This type of discount is frequently much higher than 2 per cent. In fact, there are indications that the percentage escalates to 10 per cent, 15 per cent or even 20 per cent. There is also evidence that the retailers do not demand the discounts in order to lower the price of food to the consumer. They do so primarily to increase their market share. This is an important issue and must be taken into consideration in the context of any investigation into the food industry.

The legality or otherwise of the discounting and other payment arrangements has to be considered, of course. But these practices could all be quite legal under existing law, depending on the manner in which they are implemented. The question of prime importance, which needs to be answered at this time, is: "What are the economic and social consequences of such trading practices?"

Of course, these practices also have the effect of accelerating the concentration of power into a few hands - increasing the danger of monopolies. According to a study commissioned by the Food Prices Review Board approximately two years ago, high concentration of power in this way definitely has important negative effects on economic performance. It tends to generate overpricing; higher profits, less free service and less product variety; and finally as an outcome, higher levels of prices compared to lower concentrated markets.

Redmen's winning streak is snapped

Lindsay blasts Haliburton

The winning streak snapped for the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen last Thursday.

Heads were low in the Redmen's dressing room after Lindsay Collegiate Vocational Institute pounded the hometown squad 31 to 1 at the Haliburton field.

"I'm not offering any excuse for the loss," said coach Gary Brohman. "Physically, they handled us and their technique was better than ours."

"I'm disappointed at the score, but I'm not down about it," he added. "We've still got a good football team."

Both Haliburton and Lindsay have played without a loss during the season and both teams have been the only squads in the league to ever win the Kawartha West championships.

But Thursday's game showed the immensity of Lindsay's power.

In the first quarter, Lindsay came up with a single point on a punt. Haliburton tied after quarterback Tim Davies picked up a 30-yard single point from a punt formation in the second quarter.

On the next sequence of plays Lindsay marched the ball 40 yards to Haliburton's 20-yard line. Lindsay scored on a reverse, completed a two-point conversion, and took the lead 9 to 1.

Up to this point, coach Brohman felt the teams were "evenly matched." Haliburton mistakes were kept to a minimum, he said.

But, the second half, Lindsay completely dominated the match. The third quarter contained plays by Lindsay, where coach Brohman felt "frustrated," since the plays were readable and consistent to Lindsay's style of play. But because of the power of the team, Brohman said "they just took over."

Into the third quarter, Haliburton kicked off, and Lindsay contained it on their own 35-yard line. From there, the offensive pressure was so great, the Lindsay squad marched the ball deep into Haliburton's territory. On a goal line plunge, the margin increased to 16 to 1.

Lindsay's reverse play became the order of the day with their offensive touchdown in the reverse pattern. Things seemed to go from bad to worse.

"We had the wind in the forth," said coach Brohman, "but offensively, we were very inconsistent. We moved the ball but they moved us off it and had total control. Our drives were so inconsistent we couldn't put anything together."

Lindsay took to the air in the fourth quarter and scored again, with the extra point, and left the field at the end of the game with the score of 31 to 1.

Reasons for the loss and what the Redmen plan to do about it?

"There's no excuses," said coach Brohman. "They beat us fair and square, but maybe this is the best time to lose a game - in mid season. Now we can turn around at what Lindsay did and learn from it. We'll learn from their success."

"We have to turn it around right now, at our next game."

And that game will be on Tuesday, October 24, when they travel down to Cannington to take on Brock High School. According to coach Brohman, outstanding offensive players were safety Kirk Potter, and middle guard, Ed Roberts. Davies was reported to have played a "steady" game offensively for the Redmen.

Despite this attempt by the Redmen to press their offence against Lindsay last Thursday, the squad went down in defeat 31 to 1.

Father, son team win enduro in four different classes

The trophies were plentiful for the father and son motocross racing team, Dave Dodd Sr. and his son, David, this past weekend at the Muskoka Enduro held in Huntsville.

The Dadds, who are from Haliburton village, raced their way to four different victories in the enduro. David 16, won the overall point deficit in the competitions out of the total 155 riders that competed. He also was the winner in the senior competitors.

The elder Dodd, 48, came up with the veteran's class win at the competitions. In addition to these wins, the team, together with Jim Hamilton, won the team class competitions also.

"There really wasn't much else to take," said the father. The 115-mile course was described as "tricky" by Dodd.

"It consisted mostly of mud," he added, "and frozen leaves on the trail made it even worse."

Dodd's son will enter expert class next year as a result of his wins over the season. He has the highest accumulated points of all the enduro racers in the provincial circuit.

The two were riding Suzuki

OMHA, Tri-County schedules ready

With the ice at the arena currently going in, everything looks all set for the 1978-79 Minor Hockey season. Schedules have been prepared for both OMHA and Tri-County teams in Atom, Pee Wee, Bantam and Midget Divisions and coaches, managers and trainers have been obtained for Novice to Midget teams.

This year the season will start with a free hockey school and power skating for all players. If you are not as yet registered, you are welcome to come to the school and another registration will take place one night during the week of October 23 to 27.

Registration fees are the same as last year. The following is the schedule for that week.

Power Skating
October 23, 24, 26, 27 each night. Novice 5:00 - 6:00, Atom 6:00 - 6:30, Pee Wee 7:00 - 7:30, Bantam 8:00 - 8:30, Midget 9:00 - 9:30.

Hockey School
October 23, 24, 26, 27, each night.

Atom 6:30 - 7:00, Pee Wee 7:30 - 8:00, Bantam 8:30 - 9:00, Midget 9:30 - 10:00.

At the end of the hockey school, teams will be picked for OMHA and Tri-County Leagues.

There will be no hockey school on Wednesday, October 25. Level 1, CAHA sponsored coaching clinic will take place and the coaches and managers and trainers will be busy that night learning new techniques themselves.

Many parents in Haliburton and in all communities have expressed concern over the amount of travel the young athletes have to bear. It has been with these thoughts in mind, schedules have been prepared so that fun, competition and participation are the main goals.

Tri-County, OMHA schedules and practise times will be in next week's Echo.

Redmen juniors shut-out Cannington by a wide margin in Monday game

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen did not fair very well against Lindsay Collegiate Vocational Institute last Thursday, losing 31 to 1, but the junior Redmen have done just the reverse.

In a game that was termed "just amazing," by coach Gary Brohman, the junior varsity squad bulldozed Brock Secondary of Cannington by the score of 36 to 0 last Monday.

The Haliburton squad dominated play from the very beginning, said Brohman. In the first quarter, there was no scoring. Haliburton both offensively and defensively completely dominated play.

The real action came in the second, when Dave Elstone, halfback, ran a 25-yard quick pitch for the first touchdown of the game. Quarterback, Scott Arbuthnot followed up on Elstone's effort when he teamed with right end, Shawn Chapman for the two-point conversion.

Cannington quick-kicked later on in the quarter and moved the ball to Haliburton's 25-yard line. This play gave the Lindsay hometowners no relief. Ted Pilcher, in a great display of speed and stamina, ran 91 yards for Haliburton's second touchdown.

The convert for the extra point was missed. But again, the Haliburton squad could do no wrongs. Arbuthnot, in the latter period of the quarter, threw Chapman a perfect 25-yard pass for Haliburton's third score.

Both teams trotted off the field at halftime with the score 20 to 0 in Haliburton's favour.

But even with the enormous lead, the visiting Haliburton squad did not let up. They stopped a misused punt by Cannington and brought the ball all the way back to their 15-yard line. It didn't take long for Elstone to run the ball in for the touchdown, giving him two for the day. Phil Smith kicked the one point conversion and made the score 27 to 0.

Again, after the ball was carried back and forth on the field by both teams, the

Curling season soon, spiels planned

The Haliburton Curling Club will soon be taking to the rink as the week of November 13 approaches.

Present plans call for the ice to be ready for Saturday, October 21, with open curling after that date.

A one-day spiel is planned for the week of October 21 with a pot luck supper. It will be followed by the annual meeting of the curling club at 8:30 p.m. with a social and dance later.

All members are invited to attend and a special invitation is extended to prospective new curlers. If you are interested, contact Linda Beachli at 457-2973 or Ann MacNaull at 457-1872.

The weekly schedule for the curling and the appropriate contact person in each league is listed below: Monday - men's: contact Bob Collier at 457-2547. Tuesday - ladies': contact Linda Beachli at 457-2973. Wednesday and Thursday - mixed: contact Bob Collier at 457-2547.

At a recent meeting of the Curling Club executive, it was decided to offer facilities on a Thursday afternoon basis for a senior men's curling group.

Instruction and coaching will be available to beginners. For more details, call Tom Stinson at 457-2004.

It took two Redmen to haul this Lindsay player to the ground at the football match between Lindsay High and Haliburton Highlands Secondary School held last Thursday.

Redmen juniors mop up in Monday game

Haliburton offense threatened once more on the Lindsay 10-yard line. Mark Carins carried the ball in for the touchdown.

In the fourth, with Haliburton out front by a considerable margin, Phil Smith kicked a 35-yard field goal. The attempt was made, says coach Brohman, "just for fun", but Smith gave the squad three extra points to go home with. The final score, Haliburton 36, Cannington,

0. Offensively and defensively, coach Brohman says that "there were no outstanding players - everybody played a super game."

"All 36 guys brought the whole game together."

The junior varsity squad will be up against I.E. Weldon, out of Lindsay, next Thursday. If Haliburton wins this game, the squad will be insured of a playoff spot, said Brohman.

News from Extendicare

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

This is the time of year when Canadians are urged by advertising to go anywhere, but stay at home, to drain more dollars out of Canada. We cannot see any place else, winter or not, where one can find more fun and enjoyment than to stay in Canada through the winter months. You may save a little energy but still your home must be kept warm even if you are away and it can be just as boring away as at home.

Tuesday we had bingo with no director, but with volunteer helpers, Mrs. Dorothy Iles, Mrs. Dorothy Davidson, Mrs. Karen Henderson and Mrs. Eileen Morrison, who did a first rate job. Jake Gill did all the calling and even managed to win a couple of games himself. Everyone seems to like his efforts more than with others that try it.

We take no chances with our perishable plants and flowers. They are brought in every night and do not go out in the morning until the frost has melted away. All of our geraniums have done well and quite a number of them have given us bloom. We got very little dahlia bloom outside but some of them are coming into flower now.

Duncan Bethune, one of our non-angarians, who has been ill, has finally left to enter a Peterborough hospital for an operation. It should not be very long until he is back with us. Everyone likes Duncan.

The Wednesday afternoon movie showed the Fraser River in British Columbia, from a little trickling stream to its delta in Vancouver. It is immense in length, in violence, in its brief gold mining history and in commerce. It is the mainstay, if not all, of the business activity of the southern half of British Columbia. In that respect and its lure there is no other river its equal.

Unfortunately, Ontario has found it is unable to retain the Bruce trial in its original plan. Now that political erosion has begun, it will probably cater to similar ventures in ever increasing demand so that before very long it will cease to exist.

Charles Plewman is still having that aggravating trouble about his vision and again he has been to Peterborough to seek help but has returned quite disappointed. When some guest plays our piano Charlie is on hand with the harmonica in an effort to add to the harmony.

This Indian summer has been quite a treat. Even Park Street has an appeal to any of us who choose to walk its length and color still exists in many of the leaves of which have yet to fall. The motor car is still king in transportation and we wonder sometimes if in some cases it is a burden to a family's economy. They cost a great amount to buy, licence, insure, repair and fuel. Renting or using taxis would be less expensive.

Rev. John Smith of Lakeside Baptist Church was our spiritual leader for the Friday morning devotional period, his wife Velma a pianist of excellence, with Charles Plewman, harmonica. The theme "October is the month of Thanksgiving". The sermon was taken from the 118th psalm.

In the informal gathering after service, Rev. Smith showed interest in our method of locating the crocus bulbs we planted. They were concerned lest the chipmunks find them, but we assured them that we have a couple of stray cats that are making a home here.

Saturday at noon while dining, Mrs. Ada Denholm was entertained by three relatives, Marion Hicks of St. Catharines, Eleanor McEduards of Freeport and Faye Schultz of Cambridge. The Happy Gang are happy to see Mrs. Denholm so honored by these lovely ladies.

Our note of the devotional periods Friday morning failed to mention that Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stewart joined us in that service. Haliburton is fortunate in having a man of the calibre of Mr. Stewart to take a sort of supervisory interest in affairs of a community and be on hand when needed.

Mrs. Ada Pacey has been confined to her bed for the past six months. She fortunately, is having some quite regular cheerful visitors that has served to maintain her morale as son, Harcourt, and wife, daughter Betty and her husband. It is remarkable the devotion these children show and how more content Mrs. Pacey is for days after the children have visited.

Dr. Eric Sisel will be the guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Evangelical Fellowship of Canada to be held in Haliburton November 2.

He was the guest speaker at the same banquet in the village a few years ago.

Dr. Sisel, who was educated in Europe, came to Canada after living in the United States. He went into the Christian Ministry with the United Church after leaving his job at the Toronto Telegram.

Until recently, he has served the Lake of Bays area with the United Church.

Gems of Truth

People are continually confronted with situations that demand a choice to be made. The right choice brings blessings and the wrong ones lead to disaster. The ability to make a choice of our own is a God given privilege to his highest creation man. To use that privilege wisely is the vestibule to better days ahead.

In the 15th chapter of the Gospel according to Luke is given the account of the prodigal son who made a wrong choice. In its true setting it is a picture of God's prodigal nation, Israel. It is a Jewish setting, because the Gentile nations never were in the Father's house. The mistake or wrong choice that the prodigal made was in demanding his portion before his time. Luke 15:12-13. He wanted to be on his own like his heathen neighbours.

It has been said that the Jewish people made two mistakes in their history. Once they demanded a king, and the other time they rejected one. In the time of Saul, Israel asked the Lord through Samuel for a king. 1 Samuel 8. According to the words of Jacob in Gen. 49:10, the king had to come through the line of Judah. Judah's lineage was being carried through the offspring of his illegitimate children. Gen. 38. According to the law, no illegitimate child could enter the congregation till the 10th generation. Jesse was the ninth, and his son David, was the first descendant of Judah who was rightfully able of sitting on the throne.

In asking for Saul, Israel was ahead of the Lord, for David was not quite ready yet. Just like the prodigal son in Luke 15 broke his father's heart, so the wrong choice of Israel has broken God's heart. The prophet Isaiah declares, "The ox knoweth his master's crib, but Israel doth not know, my people doth not consider. Isaiah 1:3.

Just like the prodigal's choice started him on a journey which landed him in a far country, so Israel's choices has taken her far away from God. The prodigal wasted his substance with riotous living and Israel has wasted her true calling and spiritual energies in secular pursuits. The prodigal found himself in dire circumstances among false friends, even so Israel has found herself continually harassed among the Gentile nations. The different nations where she sought shelter and to whom she gave her allegiance have plundered her and drunk her blood.

She has followed the trend of unbelief spread out by her benefactors and the Jewish nation of today is still following the same course of unbelief, notwithstanding the terrible harvest such a course has already produced.

The prodigal, in his desperation joined himself to a citizen of the far country. Likewise the Jewish nation will some day join themselves in their desperation to a citizen of a far country, even the Anti-Christ. He will offer them the husks of his pigsty, and it is then that Israel will

Guild of Fine Arts News

By Carole McLean

The article in The Echo headed "Council accepts proposal, Guild gets new headquarters" and the meeting that brought about that decision, has set into motion another step in the plan that has been the Guild of Fine Art's dream since its' conception; to make Haliburton County the arts and crafts centre of Eastern Canada. This particular effort was made possible by the hard work of a committee titled "the Visual and Performing Arts" - headed by Carole Finn, Mary Coneybeare, Patti Smith. The committee's objective, "to draw together the various communities in Haliburton County and service their individual artistic and cultural needs."

The formation of the group took place on May 22 and since its formation it has been one of rapid growth and decision making in order that they could take advantage of opportunities made available to them by the municipality and government. A feasibility study was initiated to assess the benefits an undertaking of this nature would have on the entire county. The speed at which this was accomplished can only be marvelled at, what would have ordinarily taken six to eight months was done in two by three very conscientious gentlemen, Keith Wagland, Bob Bailey and Harold Kallman. Their study indicated that the Canadian National Railway station adjacent to the proposed 8.9-acre park to be developed on the shores of Head Lake, could be restored to accommodate the Guild's needs of office space, board room and an attractive setting in which to hold our Christmas and Winter Carnival sales as well as an appropriate space in which to exhibit the travelling art shows that are being brought into the county on loan from the various museums.

It has been evident for sometime that the facilities at the School of Fine Arts for the Guild were inadequate and this undertaking will give us a permanent residence in which to conduct our business as well as plan future growth. The decision to go ahead with this undertaking was a difficult one for our board of directors. It has committed us for a very long time, but the need and the opportunity far outweighed any doubts that may have arisen. If we are to grow, we must have an incentive to generate enthusiasm. As members and friends alike, I'm sure you are aware of the benefits an undertaking of this magnitude will have on Haliburton County as well as the hard work involved in making it a success.

With this plan in motion we hope to have the building ready for occupancy in the spring, and to kick off this endeavour, activities are underway to celebrate the arrival of the first train to Haliburton, 100 years ago, on November 23, 1878. The activities will encompass the entire weekend. These plans will be made available to you in the weeks ahead in the "Coming Events" column of The Echo. We are marching forward to the sound of a not to distant drummer.

Weaving Group
A special invitation and complimentary tickets have been extended to the Haliburton Guild of Handweavers and Spinners by Riki Oldfield of the Peterborough branch to attend their "Fibre to Fabric '78" Exhibition and Sale as well as tea and fashion show of handwoven items on Thursday, November 23.

Riki is a summer resident of Haliburton as well as an active weaver and has contributed greatly to the formation of the Haliburton Guild in offering her advice and help. We thank her and hope to join her for an evening upon her next visit to our county.

The CLIMB

THE CLIMB is an exciting suspense-filled mountain climbing adventure set in the Brazos Cliffs in Northern New Mexico. It tells the story of Jim and Cindy Vaughn, directors of a school for mountain climbers. Their companions on the climb are Tom, an atheist, whose father was killed on this mountain, and Jeff, a back-slidden Christian and counterfeit climber, who is actually a writer seeking material for a magazine story. Apart from the action, the drama, the suspense, THE CLIMB is the story of two young people whose tender love for each other reflects their love for the Saviour. THE CLIMB is good entertainment with a message for viewers of all ages.

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

Aren't these cold nights and nice days something? They remind me of a few lines from a poem by James Whitcomb Riley - "O, it sets my heart a clickin' like the tickin' of a clock; When the frost is on the pumpkin and the fiddler's in the shock". This weather is nice, what I dread is the winter I guess I'm getting old.

Attention all you bargain seekers. There is to be a sale at the St. Paul's Parish Hall, Saturday, October 21, starting at 1 p.m. I was told it was a rummage sale, but when I heard what all was for sale, I decided it was more. Don't forget the time and place, for you just might pick up some articles other than clothing. That is if they aren't all gone if you are late.

Winter must be getting close for a lot of people have or are leaving for the south. The Mark Vaseys left last weekend and the Sandy Stewarts have taken their home for the winter. The Teachmans leave this coming weekend.

Miss Charlotte Webber and Vince Peacock of Hamilton spent Saturday with Mrs. Edith Welch and Miss Carrie Jones. I am glad Edith is home from hospital and that Carrie is staying with her for awhile.

The Horticultural Society have cleaned out the Flower Garden beside Home Hardware and packed the hanging baskets away for the winter. Next spring, residents should see another rainbow of colour in the baskets, in the garden and other places in town as they are being prepared now for the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bibby have Al's cousin Leah visiting with them at present. Leah is from New Zealand and enjoying our county, so we hope it is really nice while she is here.

Last Thursday evening, the snowball went at Rotary Bingo. It was won by two people, Maxine Snell and Lois Titus. The Maritimes seem to be very popular this year for a holiday. The Ross Warburtons have headed east for their holidays.

On October 23, there will be a meeting at the municipal building at 8 p.m. This is for the formation of an association for children who have learning disabilities, and two members of the panel will be Ron Augustine and Nancy Matheson from the Victoria County Association.

It must be getting close to winter as the ice went into the arena and hockey practice started on Monday evening, with the first games being slated for Saturday November 4 when Minden Teams will be hosts to teams from Omemee. All home games for Minden are being played on the weekends, unless something unforeseen happens. So don't forget hockey starts November 4. See you there I hope.

This week we have a recipe for Christmas cake. Yes, it is nearly time to make these cakes and this one is fine for diabetics or weight watchers. 2 cups sifted flour; 1 1/2 tsp.

baking powder; 1/2 tsp. salt; 1/2 tsp. baking soda; 1/2 cup unsweetened orange juice; 1 medium slightly beaten egg; 2 tbsps. vegetable oil; 2 tbsps. liquid artificial sweetener; 2 tbsps. hot water; 1 cup whole cranberries; 1/2 cup chopped walnut pieces; 1 tbsps. grated orange rind; 8 marachino cherries; (4 red, 4 green for colour), 6 medium chopped dates; 1/2 cup raisins; 1 tsp. cinnamon; 1/2 tsp. each of nutmeg, cloves, ginger; pre-heat oven to 350 degrees F. combine flour, baking powder, salt, spices, baking soda in large mixing bowl, add chopped fruit & nuts, toss to coat with flour mixture. Combine orange juice, egg, oil, liquid sweetener & hot water, blending well. Pour over dry ingredients & mix only until they are well moistened, spoon into well greased pan — X5X3" and bake 1 1/2 hrs. or until brown on top. Cool slightly before removing from pan. To age cake seal in plastic bag and freeze for two weeks; to soften top crust, seal with slice of apple in plastic bag and store in refrigerator.

There was a family gathering at the Mark Vaseys the weekend of October 6 to 9, the Glen Vaseys and Doug Vaseys from Winchester; the Hugh Vaseys from Mississauga; the Gary Vaseys from Bradford and their families. As well as being Thanksgiving, it was Mark and Carrie's 45th wedding anniversary and 21 members of the family had dinner with them at Hunter's Horn.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hurtt enjoyed having their daughter Lynn and her husband John MacDonald of Halifax, Nova Scotia home for a visit. G. Cox, E. Carrell, W. Roodenburg and G. Feltham attended the District 4 Horticultural Convention in Lakefield last Saturday.

Winners at the mini card party last Thursday afternoon were: bridge - May Allen; cribbage - Dianne Stevens and Audrey Wilkinson; euchre - Della Griffin and Edna Cowen; lone hand - Pearl Cowen.

Remember that the Minor Hockey Masquerade Dance is on November 4 starting at 9 p.m. with disc jockey Tommy Williamson.

The opening of the Toronto Dominion Bank branch last week drew many people. The bank was officially opened Thursday and present were R.L. Massie, operations Department Toronto; I.H. Wilson, marketing Division Ontario North and East; Manager Al May and his wife; staff, Susan Clift, Mary Coneybeare and A.M. Stadtmuller. The bank held open house on both Thursday and Friday and the Minden Women's Institute catered for it. The W.I. president and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox were the first people to open an account at the bank. Mrs. Mayo and family will be joining our community in November as Mr. Mayo has purchased a home on Highway 121.

Adios and take care now.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. E. Ware on the Bexley Road who recently were honored on their "almost" 60th wedding anniversary. The celebration was held a little early since it is impossible to gather all the friends and family on such an occasion during the winter months. Mr. and Mrs. Ware were married December 18, 1918, in Toronto, and the occasion was celebrated on September 24 at the summer home of their son Bob, on Balsam Lake's North Bay Drive, with about 130 present. They were blessed with four sons, Bob, Ken, Ernie and Mel and one girl, Norma, (Mrs. Cole). All the family, except Mel, who lives with his parents, live in Scarborough. They have 12 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. The Wares moved to Bexley in 1958 but were both born and raised in Toronto. Mr. Ware is a retired mechanic and an avid gardener. A large wedding cake, a plaque from the Prime Minister, a telegram from the Queen and letters of congratulations from our local members of parliament are treasures the Wares will cherish. Congratulations to you both.

Gordon Timleck is a patient in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, where he is recovering from a leg broken in two places. Gordon, suffered the injuries in a fall Saturday night.

Sincere sympathy to the Rod Cameron family in the loss of his wife, Phyllis, who passed away very suddenly on October 7. Phyllis resided at the Cameron Funeral Home for burial service on Tuesday.

Stanhope Notes

By Alex Stevenson

At this time Stanhope's property owners' associations are engaged in interviewing the candidates for municipal council. They intend to advise their membership of those whom they consider to be the best choice on election day.

Running for reeve, is the present deputy-reeve J. Harrison and newcomer W. Barber, while seeking the deputy-reeve's post is councillor Elgin Stouffer and D. Cruthers. H. Davie, E. Johnson, A. Rawlins, and R. Woods are seeking a seat on council.

There is still time for others to file nomination papers by October 23 but since the associations must advise their members, it is necessary to act some time in advance of the elections on the basis of the known candi-

I believe that the associations have served Stanhope well in the past, with the candidates they have supported, but this year the problem is more complex. In previous years, the presence of S.G. Nesbitt and Jim Harrison for the senior council positions left no problem in the matter of continuity and experience on council. With the departure of reeve Nesbitt from the council, the only link with experience and continuity in those top positions will be deputy reeve J. Harrison, who is now running for election as reeve and councillor E. Stouffer, who is now candidate for the deputy reeve's position.

technique that upon sight informs those viewing it exactly who's work it is. The following technique called "under glazed drawings" is one used extensively by a Toronto potter.

Using bisqued stoneware - you first dip the desired piece in a porcelain slip and dry. Then using underglaze pencils (you can obtain these through any pottery outlet) blue, black, green and brown, you draw the desired pattern onto your piece. The final step is a transparent glaze, and fire at cone 10. The effect is luminous with emphasized drawings.

Christmas Arrangements and Decorations

A representative of the Royal Botanical Gardens of Hamilton will be conducting a special lecture and demonstration at the Guild of Fine Arts on "Christmas arrangements and decorations". This event is open to all those who are interested; please check the Echo's coming events column for time and date.

Speaking of Christmas with the snow that fell over all of Haliburton County last Saturday, it reminded me that the Guild's Christmas Show and Sale isn't that far off. Let's put all our artistic efforts to work and make it a success again this year. Get ready now.

Festival of Arts

Every afternoon from 1 until 4 p.m., upstairs at the Lindsay Public Library, a special show entitled "Festival of Arts" is on display. The works are those of craftspeople around Victoria County that have been judged best in their particular line. All visitors are welcome.

Note: Because of the length of this week's column covering the special events taking place within the Guild, the history of the Guild entitled "The Summer of 67" will be continued next week.

realize their poverty and hopelessness. She will remember the good things at home, and turn again and plea for the Father's mercy with penitent cries for restoration.

Such a course is being mapped out for Israel in our day and hour. She too will find a waiting Father ready to receive her and bring to pass all His Covenant promises made to the rightful heir to the Throne of David. Israel is God's time-clock for world events, and every born-again child of God should be rejoicing to see the open arms of God receiving His penitent nation trekking homeward even if it, at this hour, is done in unbelief.

The application of the truth imbedded in the account of the prodigal son is not only national, but very personal. The Father's arms are open wide to receive and restore all who find their choice has led them down the wrong alley, even the pit. This is the sole purpose of sending the Son, who welcomes all who turn about face and meet Him at Calvary.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunders

Calling all parents of Norland Public School pupils! On Tuesday, October 24, there will be an interesting and informative home and school meeting at Norland Elementary School. You will have the opportunity to meet the teachers who are so much a part of your child's school life and formative years, to learn about this year's curriculum and the new report cards and to elect a new home and school executive. The new and up to the minute way of keeping fit called the Health Hustle will be demonstrated for all to see and to try later if you wish. Previous to the 8 p.m. meeting, memberships at $2 a family will be sold starting at 7:30 p.m. and a draw for a door prize will be made from the new membership names. The principal, Mr. Haugh, the teachers and the home and school executive have spent much time and effort planning this year's first home and school meeting, so show your concern and interest by planning to attend on October 24.

Everett and Leona Fountain of Norland spent Thanksgiving this year in Saskatchewan, where they attended a Winterburn reunion. There were about 200 people who dined and danced on Saturday, October 7 at the family reunion and also joined in wishing Lloyd and Victoria Morrison of Portland, Oregon a happy 40th wedding anniversary. The Fountains said that the weather was sunny and warm (that must have been the same lovely weather that moved our way on Monday and Tuesday, October 9 and 10) and they enjoyed a conducted tour of this western province city and visited the Saskatchewan museum and the stock yards before flying home on Tuesday, October 10.

May we add our congratulations to Don McLean who received The Silver Acorn award from the Honorable Pauline McGibbon, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, on September 29, in a ceremony held at Queen's Park? This award is presented as recognition of especially distinguished service to the Scout movement. Don has been interested in scouting since 1935 when he first became a scout and continued over the years to his retirement in 1976. The McLeans decided at that time to settle in the Norland area and built a home near the Hilton Point Road on the Laxton North Quarter line. Don and Lois Bowlin in our Norland Club and Lois is secretary at Norland Public School. Both of them will share this scouting honor and we are very happy for them at this time.

About 55 ladies attended Lindsay Presbyterian United Church Women's Region 5 rally on Thursday, October 12 in Powles' Corners United Church. U.C.W. members from Bethel, Dunsford, Janerville, Omemee, Providence, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Mount Horeb, Powles' Corners, and Yelverton were represented at this fall church rally, the theme of which was "in my heart there rings a melody of love". Chairman was Miss Dorthea Comber, Providence and secretary was Mrs. J. D. Stinson, Providence. In the morning, the guest speaker, Mrs. Robert Johnston of Peterborough spoke on her experiences and thoughts in becoming a Christian and an informal discussion and question period followed after lunch in the afternoon.

On November 5 at 3 p.m., there will be a dedication service for the new Bobcaygeon United Church and Christian Centre to which all are invited. It was only last June that construction started on this building and we rejoice with the minister, Rev. Ed. Bentley and the members who will soon be worshipping in this lovely new edifice that they all have worked so hard to complete and finish on time. The old church is to be left and will be used for Sunday School classes, etc. The guest speaker for this joyous occasion is Rev. Bill March and the week following the dedication the new church will be open for viewing each day.

As a special project of the Task Force on drugs and alcohol, the film, "The First Step" will be shown on Lindsay cable TV at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, November 7. Following this presentation, a panel of four informative persons will be at the TV station to answer any questions that are phoned in by viewers.

Here's a quick, easy recipe for good tasting crispy chocolate squares when you don't have time to bake and fuss. Heat ¼ cup of honey and 1 cup of peanut butter in a saucepan (large size) just to a boil. Remove from heat and add 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 cups of crisp rice cereal, 1 cup of chocolate chip bits and 1 cup of peanuts. Mix well and press into 8 inch greased pan. Chill one hour and cut into squares or bars.

I miss the voice of Tony Pearce, former announcer on CHAY F.M. Barrie. Tony's voice was originally heard on Lindsay's CKLY but he moved to the Barrie station when CHAY FM first went on the air about two years ago. He has left to pursue a career in male modelling and his bright, cheery chatter will be missed, I'm sure, by his many listeners. Perhaps he will decide later to return to radio announcing.

People can be divided into three groups: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, and those who wonder what happened. Which one are you?

Dale Toombs Promoted
Dale Toombs has been promoted to the position of Field Officer for Rural Development with the Food Land Development Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. He assumed his new duties on Monday of this week.

During the past seven years, Dale has served as Associate Agricultural Representative for Victoria and Haliburton Counties. In this position, he has provided leadership to the 4-H Agricultural Clubs and the Junior Farmer's Association, as well as working closely with many farmers in the counties, in particular dairy producers.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey gets a chuckle as Haliburton County Warden, Keith Tallman discusses his association with Fearrey over the past year. Over 150 people attended the Warden's Banquet, which was held last Saturday night.

Farm News & Views

As Field Officer, Dale will be covering a number of counties across Central Ontario. He will continue to be located in the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

The staff members in this office congratulate Dale and wish him well with his new responsibilities. We are hopeful that a new Associate Agricultural Representative will be appointed soon; in the meantime the other staff will be sharing the responsibilities of this position.

Pork Outlook
For over two years now, knowledgeable people have been predicting an eminent decline in the farm price for finished pigs. Yet the price is still over $70 a hundred weight.

These prices have been attracting many new pork producers and established producers have expanded their operations, so that the hog numbers in Ontario are up about 120 per cent over this time last year.

What is happening in the pork industry to keep it thriving as it is? Here are some comments from the latest report of the Canadian Livestock Feed Board.

Three important factors have helped Canadian pork markets. First, the United States pork producers have not expanded their production as expected during the past two years. In fact, the United States hog population was 1 per cent lower on September 1, 1978 than it was a year earlier, and their breeding herd is only up by 3 per cent, so no major increase in market numbers is expected until late 1979, at the earliest. The second factor is the low price of feed grain. Domestic feed grain supplies were more than sufficient during the 1977 crop year, thus prices were depressed. There are large grain crops in the west, plus a huge corn crop expected in the United States this year, so these low prices are expected to continue.

The third factor is the decline in the exchange rate on the Canadian dollar. This has helped bolster the price of hogs here relative to the American price, as our pork is part of a North American market.

The report concludes that the hog outlook for 1979 is fairly good for producers. There is little chance of further price increases, but chances of a serious price decline are also small. A major increase in the United States production and a rise in the exchange rate could cause our prices to drop.

council and four years on county council, has something to offer in the way of experience and service to this township.

He is being opposed by Bill Barber of Hawk Lake, a man with a good education, as well as business experience, but with no previous involvement in township administration. I wish that Bill had chosen to run for a position as councillor. The experience gained from it, together with his ability, it is my opinion that he would then be an excellent prospect for a higher position on council.

The electors, in this case, must choose between a man with lesser academic attainments, but with a solid background of training in council and in numerous committee activities, and a man with much to offer, except the experience needed to head up a council, which could easily be lacking in necessary trained representatives.

The deputy reeve's position offers the electors a similar choice between a man with council experience and one without any such participation. Councillor Elgin Stouffer has served two years on council and in that time has shown that he believes he is there to serve the community. His committee service covers the library committee and the airport committee and in addition he had to take over the late Napier Simpson's place as council's representative with the fire department. The latter two positions are quite demanding and have called for a lot of dedication and fortitude, while at the same time enriching his practical knowledge of township affairs. He now aspires to the deputy reeve's position and is being challenged by Doug Cruthers whose Stanhope residence is on Boskung Lake. Mr. Cruthers has recently retired from the banking business in which he had a solid background, but is lacking municipal experience which would be an asset to anyone occupying the deputy reeve's position.

Whatever slates may be supported by the various associations, it is my very earnest hope that they and the electors will give serious thought to the need for some experience at the top. As for the candidates for councillor, the electors will likely have less of a problem here as three of those listed have had some degree of service on council and the fourth name on the list is a man with some promise who could be a useful member of council as councillor.

We remind our readers of the Halloween dance, October 27 at the Firefighters Hall. For information phone 754-2367 or 754-2040. You can enjoy a night of fun and the tickets are eight dollars a couple.

Church moderator from Vancouver was guest speaker at Faith Tabernacle on Thanksgiving Sunday evening service.

Peter Barbour, who is pastoring at Simcoe was a weekend visitor of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barbour. He was also in attendance at church Sunday evening and led in the song service. It is nice to see Peter home again.

The snow is gently falling this Saturday morning - our first snowfall. Hope you are prepared for the heavier snowfalls just ahead. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Vern Hannivan who celebrated their 41st anniversary last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Bradmore have moved into the Bowlin's house, formerly owned by Cathy and Roy, on Lime Street. Welcome to our corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Weaver and family leave for a trip to the east coast this weekend. I hope the weather is warm and sunny.

Something he's always wanted to do...

Building an airplane is his hobby

by Joe Banks

As you approach Stan Moore's garage at his home near Stanhope airport, you have to wonder how in the world someone can fit something, like Moore's pastime, into it.

It's a little tight, but the 58-year old semi-retired, former marina owner has managed to accommodate the plane is something he's "always wanted to do." It's a hobby to Moore and the pleasure his face radiates will tell anyone that he is a true lover of airplanes.

"I get a lot of satisfaction out of it," he admits, "and if you ever get hooked on doing this kind of thing, you can't get away."

jargon in the blueprints is something he is accustomed to working with, but, he says, "if I get a full winter in, I should be able to get her done."

With such exact work, he adds, frustrations are involved in airplane building.

"Someday you'll work and work on something, and it'll difficult aspect of building the plane because "everything has to be exact." If one measurement was out of place in any section of the structure, says Moore, it could cause the plane to perform improperly or mean destruction.

"It's got to be dead on," he says in a tone of cold seriousness, "and if you move something while you're working, you have to start and measure all over again."

wee things." Engines are something Moore says home-builders have particularly difficult problems in obtaining because of their scarcity and expense.

However, the average home-built plane "usually takes about two to five years to finish", if the builder is working full-time, says Moore.

But despite this relatively long period of time building the plane, a definite increase can't buy anywhere. There's no machine you can buy from a company with the Minicab's speed and stress stability."

Moore adds that home-builders can make slight changes according to their own individual tastes, and the airplane can become more of a "personal" thing when these changes are implemented.

Weight of the aircraft is something Moore is conscious of at every stage of the Stan Moore eyes his unfinished aileron, which, after it is finished, will provide the aircraft with a high degree of manoeuvrability. The design for the Minicab is unique: its short fuselage and exceptional flap design give it a capability to withstand nine 'g's' (measure of force of gravity). Most commercial planes, says Moore, are designed to withstand only four. Moore believes he will finish the plane toward the latter part of next summer.

airplane's frame. But Moore truly believes that the most difficult stage of the craft's construction is over. Soon, after the retractable landing gear has been added to the wing structure, after the 'skin' has been stretched over the aircraft's skeletal frame, and after the entire project culminates inside Moore's garage workshop, the blue sky will beckon Moore and his Minicab.

And Moore will accept that beckon, and wheel his airplane out of the garage. When that moment arrives, Moore knows precisely what he's going to do. No more fidgeting, and no more fixing.

"I'm just going to fly and fly."

The three elements which will comprise Moore's 'Minicab'. The wing, which Moore is currently working on, the engine, and the fuselage and cockpit.

labour of his love: an airplane into his workshop.

He says he has been working on the aircraft for about a year now, and expects to complete it by the latter part of next summer. So you might say it's only half finished and so it has a long way to go, but Moore is not hurrying. Building the air-

The airplane Moore is constructing is from blueprints he purchased for the 'Minicab', a small plane (18-foot, in length) which is known among pilots for its clean design and ability to withstand stress.

Moore spends every day working on the aircraft. Minute details and strange end up wrong. But you tell yourself that you can't get mad at yourself because it's only a hobby, but the building part of flying is half the fun."

The most stringent problem Moore says he has had to deal with in constructing the craft is "the measuring - definitely."

Moore says this is the most

In contrast to the most difficult portion of building the aircraft, Moore says the easiest part is the engine and the metalwork involved.

He has been a mechanic most of his life, and finds the four-cylinder engine he is going to drop into the plane, "straightforward for me." Moore says he never received education past public school, but adds that after he finishes working in his shop for the day, "I read an awful lot of airplane magazines."

Interestingly enough, Moore says that only 10 per cent of all airplane home-builders complete their projects. But he says he doesn't expect to give up. He is in "a better position" to finish than most home-builders are, he adds.

"I bought the fuselage off one fellow who just couldn't continue the hobby, so he gave it up. He just didn't have the time."

Time, as well as money, are two essential items to make it as a "home-builder", says Moore.

The plans alone, he says, cost him $150 for the Minicab, and he is constantly going to Toronto to buy "little

TOWNSHIP OF GLAMORGAN NOMINATIONS

NOTICE is hereby given to the Municipal Electors of the Township of Glamorgan that the period during which nomination papers may be filed in the office of the clerk for the purpose of municipal elections will commence on Monday, October 16, 1978 at 9:00 a.m. and continue during the normal office hours of the clerk until the close of nominations on Monday, October 23, 1978 at the hour of 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Nominations will be received for the offices of:

REEVE
DEPUTY REEVE
COUNCILLORS (3 to be elected)
PUBLIC SCHOOL TRUSTEE
for the Haliburton County Board of Education

(1) A person may be nominated as a candidate for an office by filing in the office of the clerk, during normal office hours of the clerk within the period in which nominations may be filed, a nomination paper in the prescribed form which:

[a] shall be signed by at least ten electors, either whose names are entered in the preliminary list of electors or who have furnished the clerk an affidavit in the prescribed form that they are entitled to vote in the election to such office. [b] shall state the name and address of the person nominated in such manner as will identify him and the office for which he is nominated; and [c] shall state the name and address of each elector signing the nomination paper and, where the office for which the person is nominated is a member of a school board, that such nominator is a public school elector or a separate school elector, as the fact is.

(2) No nomination is valid unless there is filed with the nomination paper a consent in writing to the nomination and a declaration of qualification in the prescribed form by the person nominated.

(3) Each person to be nominated for election to an office shall be nominated by a separate nomination paper, but an elector may sign more than one nomination paper for the same person and the nomination papers of more than one person.

(4) After a nomination paper is filed with the clerk it shall remain in the possession of the clerk.

(5) The onus is on the person nominated for election to an office to file a bona fide nomination paper.

If a greater number of candidates than are required to fill the above offices are nominated and make the required declarations, an Advance Poll will be held on Saturday, November 4th, 1978 between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. and the Regular Poll will be held on Monday, November 13, 1978 between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m.

If the number of candidates who are nominated is not sufficient to fill the number of vacancies to which candidates may be elected, on the Wednesday following Nomination Day [October 25th, 1978], the clerk may, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., receive and certify additional nominations for the office in respect of which there was an insufficient number of candidates.

Dated at Gooderham, Ontario this 11th day of October, 1978.

Haliburton Highlights by Creighton Feir

It will soon be voting time at municipal elections in Haliburton County. Various candidates will be coming forward to seek office. Look over the slate and make sure that you vote for those whom you feel can represent you the best. In a democracy, every citizen, regardless of his interest in politics, "holds office": everyone of us is in a position of responsibility; and, in the final analysis, the kind of government we get depends upon how we fulfill those responsibilities. We, the people, are the boss, and we will get the kind of political leadership, be it good or bad, that we demand and deserve.

The Rotary Club of Haliburton inducted two new members into the club recently, Giles Connelly and Ken Rydman. Giles is an Esso Sales Agent in Haliburton and Ken is a teacher at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, head of the Guidance Department.

Vandalism seems to be a problem not only in Haliburton County but throughout the Province of Ontario. Vandalism is a continuing problem that we here in the county face. Haliburton in the past has run into many acts of vandalism such as flags being stolen from various flag poles, trouble in the local laundromat, signs being torn down and damage being done to the boxes in the lobby of the Haliburton Post Office, damage to the local washrooms and just recently the car wash at Boice Motor Sales Limited was forced to close due to this same old problem. These are just a few of the problems that we are continually being faced with. It would seem to us that people could put their time to better use by helping other people for example, instead of tearing things apart. Editorial writers for years have commented and editorialized upon vandalism without much success. We can't afford to have policemen standing everywhere every hour of the day. Citizens can help and should feel duty bound to help the police in matters of vandalism. If you see something happen then report it. The police are being paid to investigate matters such as this and they will with your help. This is one way to keep the ever mounting costs of vandalism down here in the county. If children and adults know that they might be caught then they tend not to try to get away with such deliberate vandalism. If you see something report it. Let these people causing all of this trouble know that they can't get away with it.

Paul A. Dowdall, Optometrist, wishes to announce a change in his phone number for appointments for his Haliburton office. Get in touch with Mrs. Anita Dillon at 754-2067.

Two years ago Chester and Kay Schwandt of Harcourt along with Harold and Marion Kennedy of Haliburton travelled to Australia and New Zealand. At a recent meeting of the Haliburton Rotary Club, Harold Kennedy gave an interesting story in picture and commentary on the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Creelman have returned home following a one week vacation in Vermont, U.S.A.

If you really want to know what Canada really is, ask someone who has recently emigrated to this country. Or, if you have travelled abroad, you know when you say "I'm a Canadian" almost everyone receives you with genuine friendliness. How many other nations do you know who are received in the same way? It is up to each Canadian to demonstrate his faith in Canada, its wonderfully diverse people and the future we can build together. To let this country slip from us now because of apathy, indifference or the ignorance of short-sighted views would be a tragic event for our children and for the world.

Last Thursday night, Barb Bolin, of the Northern Campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton along with Dick Munshaw of Peterborough, were guest speakers at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton. They brought everyone up to date with the continuing progress at the Haliburton Campus.

It's certainly good to see Bill Emmerson back at work following a stay at home and in the hospital with back problems.

The Haliburton Senior Citizens Club keeps rolling right along and now have a membership of around 200. They are averaging over the 100 mark in attendance at their Thursday dinners and get-togethers at the Dysart Community Centre in Haliburton. It's a growing organization that's really going ahead and they tell me that they have some big plans for the future. We wish them the best of luck.

I am really sorry and I apologize for an error I made in the caption under the photo in last week's Pic of the Past. It was mentioned that one man in the photo, Carmel Baker, had passed away since the photo was taken. I learned this week that Carmel is well and alive and has been living in Vancouver, B.C. since the last war.

A break, enter and theft which occurred at the cottage of Helene Bagley of Woodstock in the Kingscote Lake area between September 4 and October 14 is under investigation by provincial police at the Minden detachment.

Entrance to the cottage was gained through a window and two rifles, stereo speakers and lanterns were stolen. The property taken is valued at $700.

The cottage was also damaged with furniture and curtains being slashed and dishes smashed. Damage was estimated by police at $800.

OPP Report

Provincial police at the Minden detachment investigated 10 motor vehicle collisions and 78 general occurrences during the activity period of October 9 to 15.

Police reported three break-ins, delivered three compassionate messages, found two cottages insecure, and charged two persons with liquor violations.

Haliburton Highlights

The Crowning Brass is coming to St. George's Anglican Church in Haliburton. This group is made up of four men who are strongly committed Christians who travel around to different churches and community groups playing their instruments to the glory of God and witnessing to Jesus Christ. They have made four records and are well worth hearing. On Saturday, October 21st a Pot Luck Supper will be held at St. George's Parish Hall. The Crowning Brass will give a concert following the dinner. The Crowning Brass will be presenting a sacred concert at the regular 11 a.m. service at St. George's on Sunday, October 22nd.

Rev. Bill Prankard, well known radio and television evangelist, will be the guest speaker when the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International, Haliburton Hyland Chapter hold their monthly dinner meeting and fellowship this Saturday night, October 21st at 7:00 p.m. in the new Royal Canadian Legion Auditorium in Haliburton. Music will be supplied by "The Joy Singers".

As was mentioned in last week's Echo, there will be a meeting of the Haliburton Chapter of the association for children with learning disabilities on Monday, October 23rd at 8:00 p.m. This meeting will be held at the Minden Municipal Office building. There will be a film presentation, "Why Can't I Learn?", followed by a panel discussion and question period headed by Nancy Matheson, president of the Victoria county chapter A.C.L.D., Ron Augustine, a physical education teacher who has been dealing with children with learning disabilities, along with two other members of the A.C.L.D. from Lindsay. These people will be here to answer your questions. Please try to attend.
